IS LOOKING FOR A — Market Intelligence Intern

Join an energetic and fun startup.

Become a well-rounded individual.

We Love Marketing. We Live Sciences.

OUAT! is an exciting startup on a mission to push technology innovation forward and make it live by facilitating its acceptance. Our team is made up of highly skilled Marketing Architects who act as an interface between our customers and first-rate contractors. With substantial knowledge in both Lifesciences and Marketing, OUAT! architects rapidly identify the needs, design marketing ideas and oversee contractors to develop high value and personalised marketing tools.

OUAT! mission.

This internship is the perfect opportunity for you to develop strong and global expertise whilst being involved into challenging projects in a fun, yet professional environment. Here in OUAT!, you will have the opportunity and freedom to carry out the following activities on a daily basis :

- Study biopharmaceutical market segments and consolidate information into actionable items, reports and presentations to help our clients make informed decisions about their market.
- Analyze, interpret collected information and develop insights on market trends and forecasts.
- Work with Marketing Architects to build knowledge and skill sharing capabilities across OUAT! to help everyone remain informed.

OUAT! About You

You are passionate, curious, driven by an entrepreneurial spirit with a previous work experience. You share our excitement for marketing and life sciences. Then drop us an email at ouassila@ouat.eu and come visit us. We look forward to welcoming you into our team!
